THE CHARTER

MAPPING THE NEW WORLD

Project Summary

The Charter

A "Google Maps" charted with photojournalist projects that let users filter by categories about current social science research such as migration, identities, climate change effect in communities, the ONU SDGs and more. Focused to give the digital generations of students in RI, political science, journalism & anthropology a verified, visual, and easy to engage option in a context of fake news, tik tokers and unreliable media. From sources we have photojournalism projects and thesis with strong photography research attached. To be licenced to universities libraries and to the general public in a further notice.
